Virginia and Philip Morris

Growing together over the years...

Philip Morris has been part of the Virginia scene for more than half a century. Both have grown and prospered in that time.

We have seen the population of Virginia more than double during those years. We have witnessed and participated in the growth of a new, vital Virginia, where the honored past has given rise to a vibrant present and an exciting future.

We think Virginia is a good place to live and grow. As evidence of our belief in the state and its people, Philip Morris proudly points to our new $200 million manufacturing complex in Richmond.

We look forward to many more years of growing together with Virginia.
